G. O. Morgan, of the Riverside stables, left this evening with a car of horses and mules for Little Rock, Ark James Grimsley, a prominent dealer and live stock shipper from Viols, was on the market today with a car of mixed stock. He says fat hogs are getting scarce in that part of the country, but there are quantitities of young hoge being fed and will be ready for market in June. He said a great deal of corn has been large amount still on hand. Says a farmer ought to feed every bushel of his corn to cattle and hogs and not sell a bushel at the present prices. Our cattle market is im-proving to such an extent that it is attracting the attention of easiern packers and beef men, and they begin to see the necessity of having buyers on the market continually. This is a grand thing for the market for it creates a strong competition and makes a market here for all the cattle tributary to these yards, and will also catch a lot of the Texas cattle, which heretofore have only stopped over here for feeding. This cattle market is growing fast and is getting stronger every day. With the new buyers, in addition to the three or four buyers who have stood by the market so well during the past few months, the cattle business should double
